

You're Invited to an Afternoon Where the Living and the Dead Will Speak!

There's a new kind of gathering place taking root in Old Town Alexandria — one built for readers who linger in the strange, the shadowed, and the unexplained. Long Dark House, a Black woman-owned independent bookstore devoted to horror, science fiction, and other strange stories, is throwing open its doors, and we want you there when it happens!

Long Dark House Grand Opening — 1510 King Street,
Alexandria, VA 22314

Saturday, September 5 | 2:00 PM – 5:00 PM (Reading &
Giveaway)

As part of the celebration, author Lisa Jones Gentry — NAACP Image Award and Literary Critics Award nominee — will read a chapter live from her supernatural murder mystery, A Dead Man Speaks, a haunting story of forgiveness and redemption. Hear Lisa reveal the world of the murdered Clive January; inside a space as mysterious as the novel — it is not something you'll want to miss!

RSVP TODAY!

After the reading ends, Lisa will sign copies of her book and answer any questions about writing the novel. Lisa will also be giving away some special prizes! Some lucky winners will walk away with:

A Terry Huddleston Tarot Print

An 'A Dead Man Speaks' tote bag with sticker

The Modern Witch Tarot Deck

A free 30-minute tarot card reading with Sibyl Edwards

A GRAND PRIZE of a basket with champagne, caviar, and crackers!!

Space inside Long Dark House is intimate by design — a bookstore built for gathering, discovery, and connection. So, tickets for the event and entries for the giveaway are limited.

You're Invited to an Afternoon Where the Living and the Dead Will Speak!

There's a new kind of gathering place taking root in Old Town Alexandria — one built for readers who linger in the strange, the shadowed, and the unexplained. Long Dark House, a Black woman-owned independent bookstore devoted to horror, science fiction, and other strange stories, is throwing open its doors, and we want you there when it happens!

Long Dark House Grand Opening — 1510 King Street,
Alexandria, VA 22314

Saturday, September 5 | 2:00 PM – 5:00 PM (Reading &
Giveaway)

As part of the celebration, author Lisa Jones Gentry — NAACP Image Award and Literary Critics Award nominee — will read a chapter live from her supernatural murder mystery, A Dead Man Speaks, a haunting story of forgiveness and redemption. Hear Lisa reveal the world of the murdered Clive January; inside a space as mysterious as the novel — it is not something you'll want to miss!

RSVP TODAY!

After the reading ends, Lisa will sign copies of her book and answer any questions about writing the novel. Lisa will also be giving away some special prizes! Some lucky winners will walk away with:

A Terry Huddleston Tarot Print

An 'A Dead Man Speaks' tote bag with sticker

The Modern Witch Tarot Deck

A free 30-minute tarot card reading with Sibyl Edwards

A GRAND PRIZE of a basket with champagne, caviar, and crackers!!

Space inside Long Dark House is intimate by design — a bookstore built for gathering, discovery, and connection. So, tickets for the event and entries for the giveaway are limited.

